1: Mitigating climate change

GGF aims to address the challenges brought by climate change by improving adaptive capacities and mitigating its impact

2: Women & youth empowerment

Empowering women within pastoralist communities not only benefits individual women but also contributes to the overall resilience and development of these communities. By harnessing the potential of women as agents of change, pastoralist societies can achieve more equitable and sustainable development pathways

GOALS

1. Mitigating climate change
2. Women & youth empowerment
3. Cultural promotion
4. Public service

3: Cultural promotion

Hosting cultural festivities can provide a social learning platform for national and international audiences, creating a forum for learning for posterity

4: Public service

Using the library facilities, students will research topics of interest through participatory actions of the communities
